"WHY IS EVERYBODY ALWAYS PICKIN ON ME?"

Rock-N-Roll Singer's Body Found With Feet And Hands Sawed Off

CINCINNATI BUREAU

During the glory days of rock and roll, one of the groups that made this country stand up and take notice was the Coasters. In the 1950's and early 1960's, the Coasters were the number one group in America, and they were black. The group has not been heard from on the national level since they recorded such hits as "Charley Brown" and "Yakety Yak." A recent occurrence has put the Coasters back in the public's eye, but certainly not the way they would have wanted it.

Early last year, the group was appearing at a night club in Las Vegas. During the time they were booked into the club, one of the members disappeared.

Nathaniel Wilson, famous for his line in "Charley Brown" of 'Why's everybody always pickin' on me?' disappeared from his home in the Nevada gambling town. Wilson disappeared in April of 1980. Late last year, a body was found by some persons who were in a remote canyon area in California. It is not known whether those who found the body were hikers or police authorities.

When the corpse was found, the hands and the feet had been sawed off.

Authorities have been working since the body was found trying to identify the remains. That process proved fruitless until a few weeks ago. Three weeks ago, California authorities released the name of the man whose body was found in the canyon west of Patterson, California. The body was identified as that of Nathaniel Wilson.

No suspect or motive involved in the murder has been presented by authorities.

Jack Toler Breakfast

The breakfast and YMCA gym dedication in honor of Jack Toler has been rescheduled for May 30 at 9 p.m. The YMCA will recognize Toler for his 50 years of service with the association.

Breakfast will be served and the gym will be named after Toler for his outstanding contribution to the YMCA membership over the years.

The donation for the breakfast will be $3.50 per person. All reservations must be made by May 29. They can be secured by sending the donation to the Eastside YMCA, 130 Woodland Ave., Columbus, Ohio 43203.

C&P Picks Bradley, Espy, Pfeifer; Urges Passage Of Library Tax Levy

(AN EDITORIAL)

Columbus and Franklin County voters for 1981 will make their first step next Tuesday in deciding who they would like to see serve them in important public offices, as well as whether they would like to see the public library system remain one of the best in the country.

Candidates, who are victorious in the primary election June 2, will have their names placed on the ballot in November, when the voters will make their final choices.

Because the primary election is non-partisan, voters can vote for any of the candidates, whether Democrat, Republican or Independent.

It is The CALL & POST's position that all registered and able-bodied black voters should go to the polls, because there are enough registered black voters to decide the outcome of just about any election in the city or county.

The black community should not, and cannot afford to let such power be wasted by staying home. Blacks certainly have the votes to decide who will win the primary election for Clerk of Franklin County Municipal Court.

After looking at the candidates and their records, we believe strongly that the choice should be Herbert J. Pfeifer, who was Franklin County Treasurer from 1972-76.

Pfeifer, a Democrat, has been endorsed by the influential Baptist Ministerial Alliance of Columbus. He has proven administrative abilities, and a track record of serving people, and not just a few select individuals. In addition, he worked hard to understand the problems of the black community, and worked effectively in solving them.

One of Pfeifer's opponents, State Rep. Mike Stinziano, is the endorsed Democratic candidate, but we believe, he can better serve this city and county by remaining in the Ohio Legislature.

As a strong, supporter of education, a young man like Stinziano would be hard to replace in the Legislature. And when we consider the difficult times ahead for public education in Ohio, we need Stinziano and more like him at the State House to fight to keep our schools open.

In the important Council election, blacks should first give their support to Ben Espy, a Democrat and Earl Bradley, a Republican. The two are the only blacks on the ballot this year, and if they are elected to City Council, the black community can look forward to two persons who can be counted on to speak in their behalf.

Bradley and Espy are highly qualified to serve on Council, the first is a sound business investor and the second is a noted lawyer.

The black community should give 100 percent support to these two candidates.

Also in the Council race are two veterans of city government, M.D. Portman and Charles Mentel, both Democrats. The community has had the opportunity to observe over the years the record of these two men, who have managed city affairs well, if not always in a manner that benefited the black community directly.

Finally, there are two Republicans-Karen Snyder, former president of the League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus, and Arlene Shoemaker, director of a funeral home, and an Independent, retired Air Force Col. Charles Sanders.

Six will have their names placed on the ballot in November, and three of them will be elected to City Council. Voters may cast nomination ballots for only three next Tuesday.

One all important item on the primary ballots is the renewal of a property tax levy that supports the Public Library of Columbus and Franklin County. The levy will not mean any new taxes. Voters passed the levy in 1976, and the library is asking that it be renewed in order that services will not have to be cut.

We think library officials have kept their pledge to voters, and made the library system one of the best in the entire country, and we think they deserve the voters' support in renewing the levy. The cost to voters is less than $9 per year, about $8.83. We don't know of a better bargain anywhere, considering all of the programs and activities offered by the library.

We urge black registered voters to take time on Tuesday, June 2, and go to the polls and vote. As stated earlier, black voters have the numbers to decide the outcome of just about any election in Columbus and Franklin County. Don't turn away from such political power!

Go to the polls and vote!

Highway Patrolman Fingered By Severely Beaten Urbancrest Man

BEATING VICTIM-Gene Galloway, 59, of 3561 Central Ave. in Urbancrest, claims his injuries were the result of a beating by a highway patrolman at his home Sunday. He was treated and released from Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus. He underwent surgery to the left eye, suffered a sprained right ankle, and received several stitches for injuries to his head.

By RICHARD PAYNE
(COLUMBUS BUREAU)

URBANCREST, Ohio--Conflicting stories have emerged from an incident last weekend in which an Urbancrest man claims he was beaten severely by an Ohio Highway Patrol Trooper.

Gene Galloway, 59, of 3561 Central Ave., said a lone highway patrolman attacked him without provocation early Sunday morning in front of his home located just inside Urbancrest Village near Grove City.

The Ohio Highway Patrol Office in Circleville reported the incident at 2:51 a.m. Sunday, May 23. The officer in question has been identified as Trooper Ronald Nichols.

Galloway claims that as he was driving home from a friend's place he noted some flashing lights behind him just before reaching his driveway. He said he stopped his car, got out and walked towards his home.

He said he did not believe Nichols was after him, but as he approached his front door, the trooper then ran his cruiser into the rear of the stopped vehicle locking the two cars bumpers.

According to Galloway, the apparently disgruntled Nichols then got out of the cruiser and came after him. "He said, 'No, you're not going to...' do something," Galloway explained of the incidents leading to the alleged attack.

"He grabbed me an started swinging. W tussled around for quite bit," Galloway said. He sa his wife, son and som neighbors witnessed th incident.

Galloway was treate and released from Mt Carmel Hospital in Colum bus later that morning. H underwent surgery to t left eye, suffered a sprai right ankle, and recei several stitches for inju to his head.

Galloway told the CA

Albert M. Hawkins, who reigned for decades as "Mr. Democrat" in Franklin County, is refusing to dance this year to tunes called by party bosses.

In announcing his new political stance, the 65-year-old Columbus native said that after 46 years on the firing line, "I'm now convinced that it is unwise for black folk to become the voters of any one party."

As a result of this conclusion, he said, "I am supporting Republican Earl Bradley for City Council in the primary election, and I strongly urge the black community to do likewise."

Of course, he pointed out that the City Council race is non-partisan and "you can vote for your own choice of the seven candidates with-

Viewing Party Hosts/Hostesses Sought For 'Parade Of Stars'

A terrific team of volunteers, headed by the indomitable, Millie Chavous, is busy recruiting community residents to act as hosts and hostesses of home viewing parties for the 1981 "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars."

The second annual fund-raising television special to benefit the United Negro College Fund (UNCF) will air locally on WTVN-TV6, Saturday, June 20, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., and will be produced by Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., in conjunction with The Columbus Distributing Company.

Area residents are being asked to support the 1981 fund drive by hosting viewing parties in their homes on the evening of the telecast, Mrs. Chavous, co-vice chairman of the Columbus and Central Ohio benefit, announced this week.

"Everyone in the community can make an important contribution to the 'Parade of Stars'," the educator and society leader noted.

"We need 300 volunteers, at least, to each host a viewing party of 15 or more persons," Mrs. Chavous said, adding, "We hope that each of the party guests will be willing to pledge $15 or more individually as a contribution to UNCF."

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND-These lovely ladies have a lot to smile about. Last year, these charmers raised some $10,000 by hosting home viewing parties for the "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars," a fund-raising benefit for the United Negro College Fund (UNCF). The hard-working volunteers were so successful that UNCF co-vice chairman of the 1981 "Parade of Stars," Millie Chavous, seated right, invited them back to give a much needed and welcome assist this year. The coveted volunteers are, seated, left: Viola Larry. Standing, left to right: Mabel Watkins, Peggy Cummings, Gloria Miller, Evelyn Peppers and Lillie Johnson. Volunteers are now being enrolled for the Saturday, June 20th telecast on WTVN-TV6, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. To sign-up call the UNCF office at 221-5309 (days) or Mrs. Chavous at 252-2744 (evenings). Three Columbus Graduates Make School's Dean's List

Three former Columbus high school graduates, now furthering their education through college, have managed to achieve the Dean's List at their respective institutions.

These women will soon be graduating from Bliss College, Ohio and Miami universities having accomplished grade point averages in excess of 3.5 on a scale of 4.0.

Carol E. Anderson, a senior attending Miami University in Oxford, Ohio is a past graduate of Brookhaven High School in Columbus. Last December, Ms. Anderson received the high honor of being named to the President's List for her accomplishment of a 4.0 grade point.

Among Ms. Anderson's honors are: the Undergraduate Fellowship in Political Science, being named one of the Outstanding Women of America, and achieving the list of Who's Who Among American College Students.

In all, Carol Anderson has achieved the Dean's List for some six semesters. She is the daughter of retired CWO George K.P. and Bessie M. Anderson.

Patricia Diann Calloway is a senior attending Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. A past graduate of Walnut Ridge High School in Columbus, Ms. Calloway will graduate from OU in June with a degree in Communications.

In high school, Ms. Calloway was a member of the National Honor Society and was awarded a trophy and certificate for the "Most Outstanding Student" in pharmaceutical technician school at the Fort Hayes Career Center in 1977.

Ms. Calloway is also studying for a minor degree in business at OU, and has attended the Friendship Baptist Church continually since birth. In January she received a 3.6 grade point for the Dean's List.

The soon to be bride (July 18, 1981) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Calloway.

Ronnette E. Bettis is a former graduate of Marion Franklin High School now attending Bliss College in Columbus. She began her training at Bliss in September 1980 and is studying for a degree in the Business Administration field.

Ms. Bettis achieved above a 3.5 grade point hour ratio on a 4.0 scale which placed her on the Dean's List at Bliss College for the 1980 Fall Quarter. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wallace of Columbus.

Bliss College was founded in 1899 and sinc ethat time has been successfully training young men and women for business careers.

Change your child's life starting this summer.

Call 294-3201 about reading/learning programs and help for brain injured children.

You've probably planned a lot of things for your family to do this summer. If you have a developmentally disabled child or a child with reading or learning problems, make enrollment at the Columbus Achievement Center the most important part of your plans.

Brain injuries don't usually heal themselves. Reading and learning disabilities don't just "go away". You have to do something positive about them. Each year a child continues with problems, he or she can fall farther behind his peers, losing confidence, missing out on the genuine pleasure of learning.

At Columbus Achievement Center we accentuate learning as a physical act. Our staff of professionals works one-on-one with children, first discovering the source of the disability, then prescribing a program of correction to be followed at the Center and at home.

A child who can't read is an unhappy child. A child with developmental disabilities has great limitations. Help your child at Columbus Achievement Center. Spend a few hours each day with us. This can be the most exciting summer your child and you will have in a lifetime!

'Teens Of The Month' Display Qualities Of Future Leaders

Outstanding grades, popularity and student leadership are the qualities exemplified by five area high schoolers selected by The CALL & POST as "Teens of the Month" for May.

Through their class work and involvement in exracurricular activities, the teens have shown they are capable of handling numerous responsibilities. Each student's high school and community have, and will continue to, benefit from their examples.

The CALL & POST sponsors the salute to these youths in association with area high school principals, guidance counselors, recreation center directors and service institutions.

For teens to qualify for this salute, the primary criteria for selection must relate to the honoree's contributions of time and self to the institution and/or their peers, a role not compensated monetarily or in the academic grading process. Athletic achievements are not to become part of the evaluation process.

May's "Teens of the Month" profiles are as follows:

Melvin Chase

In school, Melvin is active in several organizations including the Metropolitan Columbus Schools Committee, the student council, the newspaper and yearbook staffs, orchestra, Spanish Club and a variety of athletic related activities.

He is active in community associations, two of which are the Boy Scouts and Junior Achievement. Currently he is employed by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Despite all these activities, Melvin has managed to maintain a grade point average that places him in the upper half of his class. His ambitions are to complete graduate work in college and possibly obtain a doctor's degree.

Melin career objective is to become a architectural engineer, and hopes an education at the University of Cincinnati will help him do so.

Other achievements and community activities Melvin has demonstrated are participating in the American Cancer Society Walkathon, membership in the Southeast Apostolic Mission Church and being named to Who's Who in american High Schools.

Gwendolyn Davis

A graduating senior at Centennial High School, Gwen ranks in the upper 15 percent of her class. Her academic achievements have gained her an induction into the National Honor Society.

Gwen participates in several extracurricular activities. These activities include membership on the 1980 Homecoming Court, participation on the school newspaper, school literary magazine, and vice president of the Inner-City Serteen Club.

Ms. Jacqueline Ralls, assistant principal, recommended Gwen for selection as "Teen of the Month," and because of the student's abilities, she said it was a pleasure to do so.

Gwen attends the Fort Hayes Career Center where she majors in the field of data processing. Gwen plans to attend Miami University and pursue a degree in applied science.

Lori L. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. David Lee are the proud parents of Lori. She is considered by her peers and teachers one of the outstanding seniors at West High School.

She is in the Spanish Club and a second year member of the Wesket Drill Team. While attending drill team camp in July of last year, she was selected to try out for the All America Pageant in March of this year.

Lori is a member of the United Bible Missionary Church, and an active participant in the Young Adult Choir.

Her plans are to attend Bowling Green State University in September and major in business administration and dance. Her goal is to someday own a fashion business.

Tara Delessa Motley

Tara is presently a nonbridge (junior in high school) at Ohio Wesleyan University's Upward Bound program.

She is an outstanding student and is highly respected by her peers, teachers and counselors. In high school, Tara is currently carrying a grade point average of about 3.76.

After the completion of high school she plans to further her education through college. She plans to study engineering.

During the 1980 summer phase of Upward Bound, Tara received a total of 13 awards, which included honors and citations for perfect attendance, speech, French, reading, geometry, dance, instrumental music, athletics, cheerleading and a special award for completing all assignments.

Tara also received a grade point average of 4.0 for the same period of time. The staff of the Ohio Wesleyan Upward Bound Project said they were honored to work with such an outstanding, mature, and capable young woman.

Yoolanda Ward

Although she has attended Marion-Franklin High Scool for only one year, Yoolanda has gained the respect of her counselors and teachers as an excellent student.

Yoolanda proved her excellence when she managed a grade point average of 4.0 for her course work--all college preparatory. Yoolanda attended the Columbus School for Girls last year.

Currently a junior, she is a member of the Marionette Drill Team which this year won the city championship and placed second in the state and fourth in the nationals. Yoolanda is also an active member of the school's "Youth Leadership" program.

She has attended many workshops throughout Columbus to help encourage student participation in school activities other than athletics. Yoolanda is also a member of the Southfield Baptist Church.

Jaycees Back Library Levy

The Columbus Jaycees and the Columbus Jaycee Women have announced their endorsement of the Public Library of Columbus and Franklin County 6/10th mil property tax levy on the June 2 ballot.

The levy, first approved by a 2 to 1 margin by voters in June, 1976, provides for almost 30 percent of the annual budget of the library. The renewal would continue the property tax levy for another five years at a rate less than 6/10ths of a mil, or $8.83 per year to the average Franklin County homeowner.

David Sinclair, president of the Columbus Jaycees, said, "The Jaycees believe that a strong, viable library system is a key resource to the Columbus and Franklin County community."

COTA To Offer Free Bus Rides

"The Downtown Free For All" is COTA's new free ride policy which is slated to be initiated in the downtown business district, beginning Monday June 1.

The 'Free For All' will replace the current COTA Orange AID 25 cent fare system.

The free ride area is bounded by the Innerbelt: I-670 and I-71 on the north, I-71 on the east, I-70 on the south and Route 315 on the west.

Between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays, passengers can board any COTA bus and ride for free within the Innerbelt.

All fares during those same hours outside the free ride zone will cost 25 cents per trip.

Passengers boarding downtown to travel out of the downtown area will pay the 25 cents upon departing from the front door.

Regular fares remain in effect on the weekends and weekdays prior to 9:30 a.m. and after 3 p.m.

COTA will also be issuring a new Midday Monthly Pass for $10 to provide unlimited rides throughout the COTA system on weekdays between 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m.

ONLY THE ARMY CAN MAKE YOU THIS OFFER.

A TWO-YEAR ENLISTMENT.
You probably haven't realized it, but only the Army can offer you a two-year enlistment. Now you can train, travel and enjoy your choice of the following comprehensive Army benefits. And be back home in just two years.

WHEN TO REPORT.
With our Delayed Entry Program, you can join now and take up to twelve months to report for duty (as long as you have your high school diploma by the time you report for duty). A good way to use this option to make the most of your two-year enlistment is to reserve the skill training or duty station of your choice in advance. Then, we'll give you a guarantee in writing.

YOUR CHOICE OF LOCATION.
You'll have your choice of several posts in the United States. And with a two-year enlistment, there's even a chance you'll be stationed in Europe. So, if where you serve is really important, you can get it guaranteed.

YOUR CHOICE OF TRAINING.
If you're like most people, what you do is most important to you. And with a two-year enlistment, you'll have over 50 skills to choose from (many have civilian applications). But if the training you want isn't available now, we'll guarantee it for later.

GENEROUS EDUCATIONAL BENEFITS.
If you're planning on college in a couple of years, you'll find we have surprisingly good educational benefits. With a two-year enlistment, you may qualify for thousands of dollars in educational assistance and substantial bonuses.

2/3 OFF YOUR STUDENT LOAN.
We also have good news for those of you who've already started college on a National Direct Student Loan or a Guaranteed Student Loan (made after October 1, 1975). Now, a two-year enlistment in certain skills will absolve you from 2/3 of your indebtedness or $3,000 (whichever is greater). Only the Army can help you return to civilian life just two years from now with the majority of your student loan out of the way.

FIND OUT MORE.
For more information about how to serve your country in just two years, call 800-421-4422. In California, call 800-252-0011. Alaska and Hawaii, 800-423-2244. Better yet, look in the Yellow Pages under "Recruiting."

MOMENTS IN HISTORY

In 1894 William Du Bois became the first Black to be awarded a Ph. D. by Harvard.

Empty Gestures At Howard University

We remember as though it were only yesterday Dean Kelly Miller having to gather a squadron of Howard University students and descend upon Congress to protest the perennial tabling of appropriations to that university.

It was a game played by Southern legislators hostile to quality education for young black men and women. These Dixiecrats through a point of order would prevent a vote on the appropriations until members of the Howard University staff and student body would come before them to beg and cajole for their funds.

Fortunately, such unseemingly tactics by our legislative leaders are now a thing of the past. Congress has been for the last two decades and more mandated to fund this institution, it should also be remembered that Howard still gets most of its money from the Federal government.

With this history before us, we reacted negatively to recent protest by a dozen or more students who stood and turned their backs on the vice president after his commencement speech to the graduating class of 1981.

We have always applauded acts of protest which served the black cause. Unfortunately, on this occasion when the vice president had promised even greater administration support to Howard and to other black colleges and universities we thought such protest inopportune and a show of bad manners.

Here would seem to be a case of students cutting off their noses to spite their faces. The survival of this great university will depend in large measure upon the attitude of such men as Vice President George Bush. Empty gestures are just that; empty gestures. But they can often come back to haunt you at budget time.

Survival Of Black Colleges

Traditionally black colleges and universities have played and should continue to play a crucial role in educating blacks and students of other races, according to a report just released by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

The 44-page report titled "The Black/White Colleges: Dismantling the Dual System of Higher Education" states that success or failure of current higher education desegregation efforts relies heavily on the effectiveness of the Federal civil rights enforcement efforts.

"Reliance on good faith intentions to achieve a unitary system does not work and affirmative steps must be mandated if the effects of past discrimination are to be overcome," the report says.

Overcoming the consequences of past discrimination, however, won't be easy. To do so, the report urges that the mission of traditionally black colleges and universities be expanded in range and scope of programs and degrees offered.

It also calls for "catch-up funds" to provide these institutions resources that are at least comparable to those at traditionally white institutions.

The civil rights commission is to be commended for its strong support and endorsement of these long-neglected colleges and universities. They have withstood fire-storms of racial discrimination and provided both blacks and the nation examples of courage and fortitude, and, yes, excellence often against terrible odds.

UNCF Telethon Is Awaiting Support

Telethon time is just around the corner for the United Negro College Fund in Columbus and surrounding areas. Before plans are completed for those expensive summer vacations, some money set aside for this needed fund drive would be wise and prudent.

Parents who are looking to see their children off to college in the future may have special reason for investing now in their future, because about 80 percent of all black students who earn college degrees receive them from black colleges and universities. The UNCF assists 41 of the private institutions by annual fund raising campaigns to keep their doors open and maintain quality faculties.

This year, for the second time, "The Lou Rawls Parade of Stars" will be a major part of the local effort to raise money. The television special will air on WTVN-TV6 on Saturday, June 20, during which the public will be asked to deliver in person and to pledge money. Last year the telethon raised about $52,000 in Columbus

This figure was below the amount of money raised in cities of similar size to Columbus. Dayton, considerably smaller than Ohio's Capital City, raised more than $61,000!

Columbus, which doesn't like to consider itself second to any city and is first for many things, will have the opportunity to prove itself this year.

An interesting note about UNCF graduates is that most return to their communities to work upon graduation. Columbus has plenty of professionals who attended such institutions as Morehouse, Fisk, Atlanta, Spellman, Hampton Institute and Wilberforce. There are numerous others, but the point is that these students don't forget where they came.

The local UNCF effort is in need of volunteers for various activities, including door-to-door campaigning, telephone operations and hosting telethon parties. If you wish to volunteer call (614) 221-5309. We believe the corporate sector is going to do their share in contributing money to this campaign, so with a plethora of support from the black community, we expect a successful UNCF campaign.

Will it make Columbus first again? Certainly it will mean more money this time than last year for the education of black students. Don't wait until the last minute to get involved. The UNCF needs your support for money and volunteer work NOW!!!

man and bird flew within your landscape
Making the sky with melodies
a whole flesh in blood

Reagan Shouldn't Tamper With Affirmative Action--It Works

By JACK GREENBERG
Guest Columnist

Critics of affirmative action who helped elect Ronald Reagan are urging the new administration to do away with such programs. The likelihood of their success depends on whether the administration can be persuaded to launch an all-out assault, and to what extent the programs are susceptible to federal government attack.

That is too bad, for affirmative action has worked. It doesn't take a statistician to perceive the shifting racial and ethnic makeup of the American social and economic structure. Anyone who walks down the corridors of a major corporation or looks into a university classroom can readily observe the difference between today and a decade ago. There are conspicuously more blacks, Latinos and women everywhere.

Affirmative action in employment and education is partly responsible for this change.

Establishing goals, timetables and recruitment programs has done more than increase minority participation in education, business and the professions. Such programs have given minorities a stake in the success of America's institutions. They have enhanced the education of whites by exposing them to diversity. And they have compensated for bias in some selection procedures, only rarely resorting to the much-denounced "quotas" of which critics complain.

This is not to say that we no longer have need for affirmative action. The problem of inequality is far from solved. Two of the most persistent symptoms of America's historical racial pathology are unemployment and inadequate income. And, despite affirmative action, unemployment among blacks remains double that among whites; among teen-age blacks, the jobless rate has been four times that of young whites. And black median income stands at 60% of white median income.

There is hope amid the gloom. Among blacks who are employed, there has been a substantial increase in professionals and managers. While about 1% of America's law students were members of minority groups in 1964, today the figure is almost 10%. In 1969 only about 3% of medical-school enrollment was minority today it is about 10%. The ratio of black undergraduate enrollment to black population is virtually the same as the ratio of white undergraduates to white population.

But minority managers are clustered at low levels; the percentage of minority professionals remains in the low single digits. And a disproportionate number of blacks attend two-year colleges or fail to graduate from four-year schools.

The progress that has been made is just a beginning: without continued affirmative-action programs, the toehold on equal participation could slip.

This must not be allowed to happen. Affirmative-action programs at all levels must be maintained. Some of the existing programs are voluntary, as in the Bakke case at the University of California; some have been adopted under threat or compulsion of litigation; some have arisen from executive orders (perhaps after an express or implied suggestion that a contract may be withheld); some have been required by federal legislation, and some arise from state or local law.

The courts have not only imposed some affirmative action, they have also generally upheld other agencies and organizations that have undertaken it.

The most far-reaching demand of affirmative-action opponents is for a constitutional amendment, but congressional legislation also is a possibility. An amendment stands almost no chance of passage (witness the fate of virtually all such efforts), and the prospects of such legislation are uncertain at best. A Democratic House of Representatives, and liberal Republicans, probably would not go along with such efforts. There is insufficient public support for either.

Whatever the Reagan mandate, it did not include a demand to dismantle affirmative action.

After the election, Louis Harris reported that blacks continued to favor affirmative action 78% to 16%, whites favored it 66% to 24% and, most striking, a majority of those who voted for Reagan also supported affirmative action--65% to 27%. Nevertheless, a Congress that regularly passes antibusing amendments and that has adopted prohibitions of "quotas" could upset predictions of legislative inaction.

Of course, there is also the possibility of a presidential executive order. The President of all the American people should think twice before discarding so important a tool for equality. An executive-order attack on affirmative action would, in any event, be limited to certain areas under presidential control (government contracts, for example), and would not change voluntary or congressionally enacted Title VII, state law or court-imposed requirements.

Barring very rapid shifts in the judiciary up and down the line, it seems doubtful that the judicial position on the subject would change. An effort to stop affirmative action might be subject to attack in the courts as being, among other things, contrary to the 14th Amendment.

Another anti-affirmative-action tactic would be to cut the funding for enforcement. This could have a deleterious effect, but it would not limit lawsuits by civil-rights groups or private lawyers who would be paid by counsel fees of defeated defendants.

Still, the presidency is a powerful institution and, if the President decides to declare all-out war on affirmative action, he could impair it in various ways. He could lead legislative and budgetary efforts against it, influence public opinion, revoke executive orders and appoint judges who he believes would be unsympathetic to it. His Justice Department could try to persuade the courts to rule against it.

Whether Reagan will want to invest so much effort in so unworthy a pursuit, and pay the price of degrading the quality of our society, contrary to the wishes of most of the people, remains to be seen.

We Must Provide Leadership For Black Youths

By REV. THOMAS L. McCRAY

Our children and our youths are perishing - they are failing! Walk through the streets of Cleveland. Ride the R.T.A. buses through the neighborhoods of our town, especially going to and after school. Listen to the language. They are our children, our youths, whose language is shamefully abusive, with no regard or obvious respect for themselves or anyone else around them. If the language is indicative of behavior, then something of the "why" of so much human abuse and disrespect for human life becomes clearer.

But these are our children and youths. Beautiful young women and men, whose potential for future development is being distorted because of abusiveness in their language leading to disrespect of their beautiful selves and those about them. It is as if our youths are failing to sense something of the worth of their own value, and in too many instances, responding as though they were lost.

Our children and our youths need leadership - strong, articulate, bright, brilliant black leadership. The need is now, and the now is the Spring, 1981, in the city of Cleveland. The leadership needed, is not typified by the brand of clothing to be worn, the color and kind of car to be driven, or the way hats sit on the side of heads, not the stoles across our shoulders, or the stride as one strolls down the street. Such acts of drama will not provide the substance to enable our youths to rally to their greatest potential, and thus find their way in the world today and in the awesome competitive system of tomorrow.

Black children and youths in the city of Cleveland need the strength of black leadership with a vision to enable wholesome recreation centers, community coffee houses, (or similar gathering spots) where young people can go and have wholesome dialogue with one another. Such could be co-sponsored by parents, the churches, businesses, neighborhood clubs, and others concerned about the future of our people. One of the most unforgettable experiences of my visit to the Holy Land a few years ago, was to note how the people of Israel provide wholesome, purposeful recreation outlets for the youths in the major cities of that country.

In addition, our children and youths need sensitive leadership to offer assistance in understanding the meaning of the "forces" that are constantly seeking to undermine them, thus rendering them incapable of doing what is necessary to adequately prepare for the future. They are the forces driving our youths to lust after false values, and the things that glitter.

Black leadership, knowledgeable of the fallacies, should be challenged to provide concrete light to lead our youths out of the dungeon of despair to the eminence of curiosity, into the nature of things and being, a commitment to serious study, and the striving for excellence. It is a commitment to "get ready", because the future belongs to those who are prepared.

Moreover, our people need the vision of clear bright leadership in Cleveland today, not just for the present time, but indeed for the present, in as much as what is done now, or not done, sets the directions for the future. Our community is currently divided, therefore, open to dangerous attacks, both from within, and without. In reality, we are too far along in our journey to be exploited, yet it is happening. Sometimes with our cooperation to our utter shame! We need to come together as a community of people to enable one another to be together, that is, to sense what it means to be together.

Our common suffering and hurts inflicted on us from us, and on us from others; the pains of which are stronger now (the Spring, 1981) than any other time in recent history, should teach us of the need to get together. The people who were the bedrock of the wiseman who wrote the book of Proverbs, and who provided the background of his wisdom, were a people with "an experience". That experience gained an interesting title for the people, and they were called "the Chosen of God."

Out of their experience, there might be a lesson for others similarly situated, namely people of the black community in the city of Cleveland. It is no question about it. The future of the black community is in a crisis, our youths are in trouble, and our people need leadership, bright, articulate, honest, aggressive and black. That leadership is needed now. Make no mistake about that!

Our Prison System: A Time Bomb

By JUDGE CRAIG WRIGHT

Ohio is literally and figuratively sitting on a time bomb as it relates to our prison system. We presently have an 11,000 + capacity and are actually confining 13,000 + prisoners. We must close the old Ohio Pen on December 31, 1983 which will reduce that capacity by almost 2,000. The question asks itself, what are we doing about this truly explosive situation? The answer is, very little.

Indeed, we are actually compounding the problem. Our legislators have been doing a lot of posturing with respect to laws that call for more mandatory sentences. It so happens that I agree with most of this legislation, but to foist it off on the public as the "answer" to increased crime is pure hypocrisy. We actually need at least 4 to 5 facilities housing 1000 prisoners apiece to keep the repeat offenders behind bars and to handle the increased flow going into the system.

It's all very well to complain about the laxity of our Parole Board. However, at best, the Board's choices are in large measure limited to making a bad decision or a terrible one. During 1981 the Board must release about 8,000 men because that's the number we'll be sending them. One man goes and one must come out. That number will increase in 1982 and 1983. In 1984 the Board will have to release approximately 50% more inmates than we send them. The Director of our prison system has been most innovative in actually handling 2000 more prisoners than he actually has room for. But the furlough system can be stretched just so far. Some have suggested we should discard the Board entirely and go to flat sentencing. This debate is an exercise in futility under the present circumstances.

The correctional system simply can't and isn't able to handle the flow. One in, one out and so it goes. Most prisoners are actually averaging about one half of the minimum sentence imposed by the state's trial judges. Can you understand why I'm a little sick of hearing about how the soft hearted judge is at the root of the problem? Can you understand the frustration we feel when we face criticism of well meaning but ill informed members of this community? All of this despite what I believe has been scrupulous fairness by the present media in recent years.

You might ask, is our legislative leadership so flawed or ignorant as to disregard this truly pressing problem? I think not; but many of them fear the consequences of addressing the fiscal problems involved. In a word, they fear folks like you who abhore the thought of spending one more dollar in this area.

Lest I spare anyone from this diatribe allow me a word or two concerning a substantial minority in the legislature who believe a prison sentence is some sort of royal road to rehabilitation and improvement. These are guys that would limit a prison to a population of 500 or even less. These good people cling to Father Flanagan's premise that there is no such thing as a bad boy and would have us confine all but the confirmed psychopaths in the local YMCA. Not only are they wrong as to their initial premise but their approach to the problem would double the initial cost and create an incredible bureaucracy of high minded folks to administer the monster.

The cold, hard truth is that we are going to have to spend upwards of $400,000,000 to get the job done and fast. If this is going to add 50¢ to the cost of a bottle of bourbon or a dime to the cost of a pack of cigarettes so be it, but, it must be done and done quickly. We must quickly change our laws as they relate to bonding authority and practice fiscal responsibility making advance preparation for retirement of the indebtedness already noted.

I would envision at least one more maximum security institution. More important, I would envision several minimum security institutions where the non-violent repeat offenders could be confined but be allowed to work. I think consideration should be given allowing this type of inmate to be used as contract labor within the locale of his confinement with a substantial portion of his wages going into the inmate's account.

I have no quarrel with mandatory sentencing, but I think it would be a mistake to, in effect, abolish our parole system entirely and go to purely determinate sentencing. Computerized sentencing is nonsense. To illustrate, under pure determinate sentencing, the penalty would be precisely the same for the theft of $150 or $150,000.

The whole concept of rehabilitating the felon while in custody has proven to be an enormously expensive and largely unproductive exercise. However, I am personally convinced through my own experience that short term incarceration can and does have a therapeutic effect in many types of cases. Even so, our parole people must face up to the proven fact that wicked people do exist and must be separated from society on a permanent basis.

In any case, I would suggest that you stop shooting at the system for a spell and make it possible to keep the criminal where he belongs.

Tell The Truth!

When George Denton, director, Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, told a Dayton Journal-Herald reporter about black state workers, alarm over his remarks incensed hordes.

He told of the few blacks employed at state prisons, decrying their work habits. He alleged that "they still do not maintain habits that permit them to be successful in employment that requires regular hours and reporting and creating and all the other things employees are conditioned for."

The remarks have been branded a slur, but there resounds an old time church meeting slogan: "tell the truth, tell the truth!" Denton was hitting close to home to the truth, and we, blacks, know of it in far too many cases. We are flunk outs on jobs too often, and when fired for poor performances, we want to jump on the old racist charge.

Denton merely told us why there are few blacks hired in his department, rather than many. He offered his reasons. Isn't there a way to dispute those allegations, rather than via the old racist charge? To brand the remarks as a slur is the typical explanation we, blacks, always offer for shortcomings that are criticized. We know our objectionable work faults, but still raise a furor when we are affected by them. But, if the white man speaks disparagingly of them, we fume and lash out with charges of racism.

What it really looks like is that Denton spilled the beans, and we, blacks, just can't stand the stench the spill has made.

He has told us why we are not hired plentifully as employees. If his explanation is studied, we'll know why, but, on the other hand, if he has not told it as it is, let us seek out proof of his testimony being in error.

The whole development goes along with what this column has said repeatedly about jobs. If we are prepared to do the work, let us work at the job with excellent performances. But the other side of the action is too prevalently evident.

Denton's remarks may hold the key to the barring of blacks in employment, and ought to be studied by the black leadership, so that ways may be sought to propagandize a reformation on our part that would result in us being picked out for jobs. Readers may recall the column pointing out that blacks are the best shoe shine boys. That is why whites want us to remain boot blacks.

It isn't always racism that bars us from employment. It is our ignorance of how to handle the job and a lackadaisical approach to the job. But we want to ignore those possible reasons and castigate the white employer with charges of racial slurs via criticism.

Let us face the truth!

There are a lot us whom we would not have on the job. There are a lot who have been burned badly by leaving a job to our own kind.

Statistics show one third or more of the country's young blacks to be unemployed. Why? Yes, the white man naturally looks after his own kind first. But, on the other hand, we, who are black, continue to be viewed in the white man's eye as being shiftless and poor workers.

Again, I say, instead of looking for racial attitudes, we ought to look into the veracity of Denton's charge: that we are not competent. That knowledge would be far more valuable to us than a lot of public utterances. Let's, turn around and look at ourselves to see what the truth is about us.

For example, I was in the hall of the fourth floor of the post office at Third and State streets one day when three black maintenance workers were standing, jabbering about. A black clerk came out of an office, looked around at bit, summoned a female worker and showed her smudge marks by an elevator signal button. When I boarded the elevator, she was cleaning them off.

See what Denton was saying?

The woman was apparently not conscious of the presence of the smudge marks, however elevator riders seeing the marks would've thought poor maintenance work was being done. Wasn't Denton discussing the very same-thing?

What our leaders ought to do is to start holding seminars for workers and talking them into 'par excellence' performances on that job, whatever it is, so that they can develop a reputation that black people are good workers. You see, we are not only in competition with white workers now, but also, Orientatals who have seeped into our population.

The critic is not always wrong!

Let us listen to what he says, study it carefully to see if he is mistaken or telling the truth.

If it is the latter, let us reform!

Washington Square Phase III Interracial Housing project, Newark, Ohio, is one of three built.

By ELIZABETH LANEY

NEWARK, Ohio -- Although he was told, told and told, that it couldn't happen; that it wouldn't happen. However the Rev. Charles W. Noble Sr. continued to hear differently from "someone else."

Because he believed that someone to be God, for the first time ever, Newark, Ohio, has modern housing complexes for the elderly and apartments for low-income citizens that cost $16,000,000.

Today the housing complexes stand as Noble Arms, Washington Square Apartments and Washington Square Plaza. But 10 years ago, when Rev. Noble first initiated the process to bring modern housing to the run-down Eastend of Newark, he was told by local officials and some at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), that such an undertaking wasn't feasible.

"We had no resources. We didn't have anything" except faith, he said the other day. "I feel this particular endeavor could not have happened without divine revelation."

What happened was this, Rev. Noble went to Newark in 1969 to serve as contracttor for Shiloh Misionary Baptist Church, with intentions of refurbishing the building. In addition to being a minister, he was president of the profitable Buckeye Enterprises, a contracting firm in Columbus.

Noting the cost to rehabilitate the church and, the lack of money the congregation had for its undertaking, he was undecided on what to do. After learning he was a minister, the congregation, which didn't have a pastor at the time, asked him to preach one Sunday.

He did. And the congregation elected to name him pastor. Giving up his business in Columbus, he moved his wife and five children to Newark where he was paid $125 a week in 1969. He undertook the task of rehabilitating the church, but soon noted the awful housing conditions for the elderly poor.

Some didn't have in-door bathroom facilities. Others didn't have doors and windows. At the time, Newark's Eastend was "really a depressing and deplorable site," he said. "And I guess that's what kept me going."

Rev. Noble went to local officials to seek support for his idea to rebuild the area. After he was turned down, he went to HUD officials to apply for a grant through the "new town, in - town" program in 1971. Before the plans were processed, he was instructed to break up his plans, and apply for the program in pieces.

While this was happening, then President Richard Nixon put a moratorium on the program in 1973. By this time, Rev. Noble had formed the Shiloh Neighborhood Development Corp. which sought federal funding for an 82-unit, $1.7 million senior citizens complex. After financing was arranged, HUD insured the loan and Noble Arms opened in 1975.

Then similar funding was arranged for a $3.5 million complex with 96 family units of one, two, three and four bedroom apartments, and HUD insured the loan. Washington Square Apartments opened in 1978.

Finally, work began on Washington Square Plaza -- a $3.8 million complex with 103 units for senior citizens -- and a mortgage loan was arranged through HUD.

During dedication of the final complex in March, Newark Mayor Mary E. Lusk said, "We celebrate the potential man has for helping himself."

She said, "I have never forgotten all the inadequate houses of this old neighborhood, the poverty. Nor have I forgotten the people or failed to remember that they deserved better."

"I congratulate the many people, great and small, low and humble, to the high and mighty, the many many, many concerned people far too numerous to name that participated in the potential of helping themselves," she said.

Rev. Noble said all three complexes are full and that there are 2,000 on the waiting list for the senior citizens units, and another 1,000 on the waiting list for family units.

The buildings comply easily with the non-discriminatory laws. Only about 10 percent of the Washington Square Plaza units are occupied by blacks. However, only a minimum number of black persons live in Newark.

Public awareness of the three phased projects of Washington Square (approximately six full blocks, including the church) could inspire a greater cooperation between the Newark society.

Contrary to the many complimentary phrases usually associated with dedications, the Phase three project received many rebuffs during the planning and construction. First slated for downtown Newark to build up the community in the business section, plans had to be reshuffled.

The complimentary phrases were uttered by the guest officials, superintendent of schools, president of city council, county commissioners, bank presidents, judges of municipal and Common Pleas courts, Chamber of Commerce representatives, a state senator, HUD representatives, architects, builders and the now familiar trio, William Potter, developer, and Atty. John W.E. Bowen, who with Dr. Noble were able to complete the three projects.

NEWARK MAYOR Mary E. Lusk addresses those attending the dedication of the Washington Square Plaza, a senior citizens complex with 103 units (ELIZABETH LANEY PHOTO)

The members of Shiloh Baptist and Dr. Noble formed a corporation for the urban redevelopment program. Potter and Bowen reside in Columbus.

The Washington Square Housing Development Corp. has revised and revived East Newark. The residents of the Plaza, the senior Citizens band who furnished music for the dedication, the happy cooks who made the refreshments and the smiling resident hostesses who served the refreshments attest to the fact that "they never believed that their later days would be so wonderful."

Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church has increased its membership and, a large number of whites have joined the church and are active in its programs. Thus making the whole complex an interracial project.

All of this has happened in a small Ohio town where just a few blacks live. The total population of Newark is less than 50,000. The 17th Congressional District of which Newark is the largest city, has only 13,236 blacks.

Dr. Noble and his wife of 27 years, Esther J., are the parents of five children, three of whom are in colleges and, one in high school and one in elementary school. They are: Charles, Jr., Michael, Lecia, Sylvia and Shelly Renaw.

Atlanta Mayor To Speak At Second Baptist Church

By PEGGY L. TYLER

The Mayor of Atlanta, Ga., Maynard Jackson will be a guest at Second Baptist Church, 186 N. 17th St., in commemorating the 145th anniversary of the church, showing Christian service to the church and to the community. It is the desire of the church for the community to share in this historical event.

July 25, and 26 has been set aside as Homecoming Weekend.

Mayor Jackson will be the guest speaker for a banquet to be held at the Hyatt Regency in downtown Columbus on Sunday July 26, at 6:30 p.m.

MAYNARD JACKSON
...atlanta mayor

Tickets can be purchased by calling the church at 253-4313 or 253-6361. It is suggested that you get your tickets early, because they will be given on a first come-first serve basis.

Mrs. Christine Sowell is ticket chairperson. The cost of a ticket is $22.50. General chairperson for the Banquet is Mrs. Lillian Braxton.

Maynard Jackson was inaugurated January, 1974, Atlanta's first Afro-American mayor and was reelected four years later with a landslide of 63.7 percent of the total vote. Jackson's leadership in national issues brought him recognition and many positions of national prominence.

Theological Seminars To Focus On Survival

CLEVELAND--On Wednesday, July 1 and Thursday, July 2, Partners In Ecumenism (PIE) will host the fourth annual Eastern Midwest Regional PIE Conference, at the Holiday Inn, 22nd and Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

The theme of this conference will be Ministry of Liberation and Economic Survival. The purpose of the conference is to bring together people of all faiths for dialogue, and to develop strategies to work together on critical issues facing our cities today.

In keeping with the theme, there will be workshops in the areas of Housing, Social/Political Action and Economic Development. Experts from these areas will be drawn from government, private industry, and commercial fields.

BISHOP J.S. THOMAS
...guest speaker

The conference is open to anyone who desires to attend. Registration for the two days is $40, including meals.

Deadline for registration is Thursday, June 25, and should be mailed to: P.I.E. 2230 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, 44115.

The conference will open with a luncheon on Wednesday. Guest speaker will be Bishop Thomas James S. Thomas, United Methodist Church, East Ohio Conference.

Bishop Thomas is a distinguished clergyman, holding degrees and honors from Claflin, Gammon Theological Seminary, Drew University, and a Ph.D. from Cornell University.

The conference will also present several national leaders, including the honorable Nathaniel Jones, Judge of the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals, who will be the guest speaker at a special Luncheon on Thursday, honoring members of the judicial system, who have contributed to the cause of justice, freedom and liberation of Black people in the five-state region.

JUDGE NATHANIEL JONES

Ministers Circulating Letter Supporting Pfeifer In Primary

The influential Baptist Ministerial Alliance of Columbus this week is circulating a letter urging support of Herbert J. Pfeifer for Clerk of the Franklin County Municipal Court.

The letter was signed by the Revs. Odell Waller, president of the Alliance, and M.J. Mitchell, program chairman for the organization of black pastors.

In the primary election on Tuesday, June 2, Pfeifer, a Democrat, is seeking to win over state Rep. Mike Stinziano, the endorsed Democratic candidate, and J.M. Ryan, an Independent.

Following is the letter sent to pastors to urge their support for Pfeifer:

Over the past month, many of us have met with Herb Pfeifer. We have listened to him and we have asked him questions.

As result, we of the Baptist Ministerial Alliance and the Minister's Conference have given Herb our vote of confidence and moral support for the June 2 primary election as the best candidate for the Municipal Clerk of Courts.

Many of us believe that over the years the Democratic Party has taken our community for granted, and the only thing they ever wanted from us was our vote. They gave us promises that were forgotten the day after the election. The only way around this malady is to vote for a man who keeps promises.

Those of us who have known Herb Pfeifer over the years, know that he has always stood up to the bosses in representing the working men and women of our town. He has always been honest and we have always been able to depend upon him.

The reason for this letter is to ask each of our pastors to set aside five minutes on Sunday, May 24, and again on May 31 just before the June 2 primary election to urge their congregation to: (1) be sure to go to the polls on June 2 and vote for Herb Pfeifer and (2) to call their brothers and sisters and friends and ask them to vote for Herb Pfeifer.

We're also writing this letter to you so that you, as pastor, will stress the urgency of the hour to show that our ministry does have the clout to change the direction of the Democratic Party and start electing candidates who represent us fairly.

Our message should be loud and clear. When we stand up as one and vote as a body, we will and can become the voice of the City of Columbus.

We want to impress upon each pastor the importance of his contribution in this election by getting out to vote. Through Herb Pfeifer, we can show our strength as a body to be reckoned with.

If you have any questions, please call me, Rev. Odell Waller at 253-0197 or 253-6707, or Rev. M.J. Mitchell at 258-2190 or 252-4562.

Shamansky Will Host Business Conference

U.S. Rep. Bob Shamansky (D-Columbus) will sponsor a conference on small business Wedneday, June 17, at the Sheraton Hotel, downtown.

The conference will begin with registration at 8 a.m. and conclude with a luncheon. Three seminars will explore opportunities for small businesses to improve their profits through acquiring contracts and tax deductions.

Shamansky will give the opening remarks at the conference, which costs $10 for the luncheon. Each seminar will last for an hour.

"As a businessman and business lawyer myself, I know tht many small businesses face several difficulties. Some of these are of government origin, including the problems of over-regulation and excessive, non-productive paper work requirements," the Congressman said in announcing the conference.

He said the conference will offer small business owners to "draw from the experience of experts from banking, government and other fields."

Bradley Says Citizens Should Be Involved In Neighborhoods

"My husband and I don't register to vote because if we did we'd probably have to serve on a jury someday." This is part of a story related by Republican City Council Candidate Earl Bradley to supporters at a reception held in his nonor the other day.

Bradley said that such feelings among the citizenry are not uncommon but are nonetheless disturbing. "It seems that people would want to have greater control over those processes and institutions that control their daily lives," he said.

"Citizens complain about services, crime, etc., yet many are content to sit back and have someone else take the initiative, and then expect to reap the benefits," he continued.

Bradley's comments were met with a warm reception by all those on hand at the Kelton House. The council candidate continued to criticize those willing to complain but not willing to take an active part in making changes.

"If your neighbor's home is burglarized and you have information that may lead to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties responsible, isn't it in your best interest to produce that information. Keep in mind that your home or apartment could be next," Bradley asserted.

People should get together on a continuing basis to form community watch organizations that watch out for one another, he said. "Get to know your neighbors. I'll look out for you, you look out for me."

Bradley said unusual happenings around a neighborhood should be reported immediately to police and that citizens should not attempt to interfere because their lives could be placed in danger. He said once the criminal element learns that a certain community is on guard against them, they will think twice before assaulting that neighborhood.

Bradley concluded his comments by saying that "as a private citizen or elected official, he will work for the benefit of the total Columbus community."

Among the crowd attending the reception were former state Sen. John W.E. Bowen, John B. McCoy, chairman of Banc One Corp., who is acting as campaign co-chairman; Roger Tracey, Franklin County Auditor; the Rev. Jesse Wood, former candidate for city council; and Terry L. Casey, executive director of the Franklin County Republican Party.

Bank One Signs Agreement With Community Coalition

Bank One of Columbus and the Columbus Community Reinvestment Coalition (CCRC) announced at a press conference Monday a cooperative agreement aimed at aiding neighborhood stabilization and redevelopment in the city.

The ten-step agreement was announced in the board room of the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority, 960 E. Fifth Ave.

Under the agreement, Bank One and the coalition will develop home ownership, family financial planning, and credit education tools and will work together to assist small business development.

In addition, the bank will provide credit counseling and make available $2 million for mortgage and home improvement loans in low and moderate income neighborhoods.

"We have a deep seated interest in this community. As residents and as a business the community's economic and social health is of vital importance to us," Bank One Chairman Robert H. Potts said.

The agreement was signed by Potts, Paul Widon, associate director of the Ohio Public Interest Campaign (OPIC), and John Spinelli and Marcia Dreistadt, both of CCRC.

The agreement is broken into 10 programs designed--according to its terms -- "to demonstrate a genuine interest in and commitment by the bank to meeting the credit needs of its community including low and moderate income neighborhoods."

- The 10 steps in the agreement will deal with the areas of: credit terms, mortgage lending and home improvement loans, credit standards and loan terms, affirmative marketing, affirmative outreach.
- Counseling, assistance to non-profit and other community-based organizations, small business assistance, community review council, and assurances.

John B. McCoy, the bank's president, echoed Pott's words, "We are pleased the coalition was willing to join with us in this agreement to work together to solve problems we collectively face."

A spokesperson for CCRC, John Michael Spinelli, said that "neighborhood economic stability within our inner-city communities is one of the contemporary cornerstones that enriches the quality of life in these areas, as well as making them socially sound and economically healthy."

Marcia Dreistadt, a CCRC representative, said, "It is our mutual hope that Bank One's leadership role will set the tone for other lending institutions in Columbus to also take a more affirmative stance in meeting not only the convenience needs of our low and moderate income neighborhood but their credit needs as well."

The agreement can not be changed unless the Ohio Public Interest Campaign, CCRC, or Bank One of Columbus agree unanimously to do so. After September 1, 1981, any of these parties can terminate the agreement with six month notice.

KEY ADVISORS - Some of the helpful advice coming to Republican city council candidate Earl Bradley, left, is from his wife, Edwina, and Marome Brockman, finance chairman for the Franklin County Republican party. The three are shown here at a reception for Bradley.

Adult Classes To Be Offered

The Department of Adult Education of the Columbus Public Schools will offer two classes in multi-occupational training in the restaurant and mass merchandising areas.

The classes are open to adults 17 years of age or older and not enrolled in a regular school. Classes are six weeks in length and meet Monday through Friday at the North Adult Education Center, 100 Arcadia Ave.

Restaurant training classes will be from 8 a.m. to noon and start June 1. Mass merchandising classes will be from 12:15 to 4:15 p.m. and will begin June 8.

Assistance for obtaining employment will be available upon successful compltion of the classes. To enroll, call 268-3544.

Fair Avenue Schools officials are sponsoring an "Adopt-A-Reader" program.

Residents throughout the community are being requested to give instruction to a child with reading problems.

Interested persons should call the school at 258-9523.

Candidates In Closing Days Of Campaign Before Primary

Less than two weeks remain before the June 2 primary and although all candidates are hoping for victories, some candidates are guaranteed wins because they have no opposition.

Among Republicans who won't have their names on the ballot until November because they are unopposed in the primary are:

Columbus City Attorney Greg Lashutka; Franklin County Municipal Court Judges Steven Hayes, James O'Grady, James Pearson, John Young, George C. Smith and James Britt; Michael Dickson, candidate for City Auditor; and County Municipal Court Clerk Ted Hysell.

While Hysell won't face opposition until November, two Democrats and an independent are hoping to be that opposition. The endorsed Democrat, state Rep. Mike Stinziano; former county treasurer Herb Pfeifer, another Democrat; and Independent J.M. Ryan, are on the primary ballot.

The winner will face Hysell in the November election. Hugh Dorian, the city auditor, is a Democrat who does not have opposition in the primary. He will face Dickson in the fall.

A primary election for city council was made necessary when retired Air Force Col. Donald W. Sanders received enough signatures to have his named placed on the ballot. He moved to Columbus in 1964 and retired in 1974, when he went to teach junior reserve officer training courses at Midview High School in Grafton, Ohio.

To be on the ballot this fall, Sanders must receive more votes than the three Republican and three Democratic candidates.

The Democrats are incumbents M.D. Portman and Charles Mentel. Ben Espy, a lawyer and member of the Columbus Civil Service Commission, joins the two in the race for city council.

The Republicans are Earl Bradley, Arlene Shoemaker and Karen Snyder.

Ms. Snyder carried her race for city council to the Linden area last week when she visited the newly opened Hair 'N' Stuff retail beauty supply outlet at 2575 Cleveland Ave.

Welcoming the store to the neighborhood, Ms. Shoemaker said, "Businesses such as these can help to restore faith in the neighborhoods all around the city...One of the things I'm really concerned about is the regeneration of our existent neighborhoods. We need to continually support all our neighborhoods where our people have invested their lives and money to live."

Ms. Snyder has been able to score with some voters with the naming of Carole Williams as her campaign chairperson. Ms. Williams is president of the Columbus Board of Education and received the largest number of votes in the school board election in 1979.

Ms. Snyder said she is particularly concerned about the city's public schools, and said there should be a closer working relation between council and the school board. One step she advocates in a closer working relation is the formation of a drug abuse prevention program by the two bodies.

The Republican candidates for city council held a press conference Tuesday and announced their "18-point crime-fighting plan." According to the candidates, "crime is the number one issue of local voter concern."

They said as candidates in the coming months, they will outline the 18 points in greater detail.

THIS PHILIPPE SALVET violet and white trouser outfit modeled by Denise Goodrich, right, caught the attention of the Kuwait crowd at the Sheraton for a fashion show sponsored by some exclusive designer shops.

A TIKTINER three-piece trouser suit in light charcoal is modeled with flair by Denise Goodrich in Kuwait as part of two-shows given by some exclusive designer shops.

Columbus Teacher In Kuwait, Models In Exclusive Designs

By ELIZABETH LANEY

When Denise Goodrich ft Columbus to spend two ears in Hawalli, Kuwait he left amid much anxiety or her safety.

Kuwait is located beween Iran and Iraq at the ortheastern tip of Saudi rabia, about three mintes away from the Arabian ulf. Kuwait is a state with population of over 00,000. The city of Hawalli laims approximately 31,000 people.

Islam is the religion of he Arab world, of which uwait is a part, and its eachings permeate all spects of the life of its folowers. Islamic affairs come under the Ministry of Awqaf and Religious Affairs which is responsible for funds, endowments and properties used for charity and other religious purposes.

Ms. Goodrich is a quiet, unassuming, modest shy person, unlike the concept of the average American school teacher. But she teaches school and enjoys her work. She is a former Douglas Alternative teacher now teaching fourth grade in a private school in Kuwait.

She writes: "I'm really enjoying my work. It's from Saturdays through Wednesdays from 7:15 a.m to 3 p.m. (The Islamic working week is from Saturday to Thursday noon). I have 24 fourth graders, 10 Americans the rest Arabs and others. I have an aide one half a day and special teachers for music, science, art, physical education and Arabic."

In the middle of all this change of country, social customs of offering or receiving with the right hand, or never exposing the sole of one's shoe to one's host, Ms. Goodrich is also modeling.

It seems that she was approached by a fashion designer who was impressed with her height of 6 feet and her weight of 120 pounds and insisted that she model for an upcoming fashion show. Clothes had never interested Ms. Goodrich enough to wear them to impress others. But why not -- a new country, new customs, etc.

She said, "They taught me to walk and made me up like a little black Barbie doll. I modeled seven outfits for some exclusive designer shops. The first show was women only, the second was mixed. They were held at Kuwait Sheraton. They served desserts and gave away Estee Lauder and Aramis gift packages to all guests. It was a great experience for which they even paid me!"

Daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Richard Goodrich, she graduated cum laude from the College of Education, Ohio State University in 1973. She was selected a member of Pi Lambda Theta, the national honor and professional association for Women in Education.

But now, aside from her vocation in Hawalli, she has a standing invitation to model in future fashion shows for the duration of her stay. Her family, sisters, Linda Goodrich and Cathy Daniels, and many friends were kept busy "sending up prayers" during the tense situation of the hostages held by the Iranians and the flare up between Iran and Iraq. But fortunately, Kuwait was not invaded by either country.

Ms. Goodrich is a member of the Chancel Choir at Shiloh Baptist Church and Rev Goodrich is an assistant to Pastor Sloan S. Hodges of Shiloh. Denise loves letters, write her: Miss Denise Goodrich, c/o The American School, Kuwait, P.O. Box 6735 Hawalli, Kuwait, Arabian Gulf.

Six Pence School's Spring Luncheon At Muirfield Village Is Informative

Call & Post Social Panorama

by Millie Chevous

Friends and supporters of Six Pence School do a fabulous job of telling the school's story and what's more, they do it with style. Last fall, the school's board of trustees made social history when they became the first group to host a fund raiser at the, then very new, Hyatt Regency Hotel. For an encore, the Six Pence Sustaining Board hosted an invitational spring luncheon at the posh Muirfield Village Golf Club where the food is excellent, the personnel expertly trained and the service flawless.

The delightful afternoon began with cocktails that were served in an elegant living room setting that looked as if it had been decorated by one of the greats of the interior design world. One side of the room afforded a marvelous view of the Muirfield Golf Course, Jack Nicklaus' masterpiece.

Lunch was served in a nearby dining room, which was inviting and offered a more expansive view of the golf course. It was here that the quality of the service was most noticeable, and the attention to detail most apparent. The food was d-e-l-i-c-i-o-u-s and the portions easily won the approval of the diet conscious crowd. The dessert was a bit unique. Those beautiful, red, luscious strawberries, that were partially covered with chocolate, were irresistable.

After lunch, Joan Taylor, chairman of the Sustaining Board, introduced Connie Pence, who presented a brief slide show, because she said the slides told the Six Pence Story much better than she could. Whether this was so, we couldn't tell, but we agreed that the slides were informative. From the slides accompanied by parents, teachers and students voices, we learned that Six Pence School, loc d at 3509 E. Main St., is for children who have problems coping with their environment and children with learning problems.

We also learned that the teacher-pupil ratio is eight to one and the curriculum is personalized to suit the children's needs. The effectiveness of the school's program was highlighted by a child voice that said, "Before I came to Six Pence School, school was really hard. They showed me how to be me."

After the slide presentation, the Muirfield Club chef appeared in the dining room and showed us how he made the delectable, low calorie, easy to do ahead crepes we dined on. His demonstration was a delight and he made it all look so easy, including the cream chicken filling. He gave us the recipe but cautioned us against putting the onions in the chicken filling, if we chose to make it early. He said that the chemical action of the oniens could make someone sick.

Prior to the chef's cooking demonstration, the efficient waiters provided us with pencils and note pads made of good qualify paper, and this too was done with a flair. Flyers detailing the school's need for an active volunteer program were made available by the staff.

Phenon Kincaid, a very active member of the Six Pence Board of Trustees and the Sustaining Board invited friends to be her luncheon guests so they could increase their understanding and appreciation of the school. Besides yours truly, Phenon's guests were Dr. Alberta Turner, Dorothy White, Cleveland, Doris Thomas, Eva Manuel, Sonja Bronson, Frances Thurman, Mary Knowlton, Jean Bowen, Loretta Jacobs, Thelma Clark, Helen Burcher, Marion Turpeau, Dorothy Miesse, Juanita Webster and Eleanor DeLoache.

Miss Black Columbus Says Title Will Enhance Career

VERONICA LEWIS
...miss black columbus

Veronica Lewis took one step closer towards her goal of becoming the world's greatest opera singer by winning the title "Miss Black America of Columbus" Saturday at the Palace Theatre.

The 23-year-old native of Indiana held a small but enthusiastic crowd at the Palace captivated during the talent competition when she sang "Oh, Mio Babbino Caro" (Oh, My Beloved Father).

Ms. Lewis, the daughter of Ms. Geneva Lewis of Sumter, S. C., won the title by beating 13 other contestants competing for this first ever Miss Black America test in Columbus.

Along with her crown, Ms. Lewis gathered in hundreds of dollars worth of gifts and trophies, and the chance to compete for that national title in Montego Bay, Jamaica on June 22.

Asked what she would do if she won that title, the Ohio State University music major said, "I would love it very much, because then I would have the opportunity to pursue my career -- not at an easier advantage, but at a more exposable advantage."

And the title does mean exposure. Recently, Sharon Wright, Miss Black America 1980, signed an agreement with Coca-Cola USA, the domestic soft drink division of The Coca-Cola Company, for personal appearances through the end of 1981. In addition to modeling contracts for advertisers in major black publications.

Ms. Lewis is a graduate of Marian College in Indianapolis, Ind., and is attending Ohio State for a master's degree in music.

Fund-Raising Plan Offered

Non-profit organizations interested in earning extra funds can still have an opportunity to get involved in the Borden and Easter Seals "A Label of Love" project.

The project, which gives non-profit groups in Ohio and Easter Seals a unique way to earn extra money, will continue until June 15.

Borden will contribute $1.00 to the non-profit collecting group and $1.00 to Easter Seals for very ten different Borden Universal Product Code Symbols collected.

Bonne Bell 10K runners clinic

Bonne Bell 10K runners clinic

SATURDAY, MAY 30--1 to 3
ASSEMBLY CENTER ON 6th

Women of any age are invited! It's a "must" if you've already registered for the Bonne Bell 10K (6.2 mile) run on Sunday. You can also pre-register on Saturday between 12:30 and 3:30. And the $3 pre-registration fee still will apply. Here's what's happening

1:00 p.m. Bonne Bell 10K race director, Ben Barron introduces a half hour film showing race highlights.
1:30 p.m. Jess Bell, president of Bonne Bell Cosmetics, will discuss the history of the race.
1:45 p.m. Aerobic dance demonstration by Aywobic dancers from the YMCA.
2:00 p.m. Suzanne Fisher will speak. Her topic: "The Aspects of Running--Parenthood, Injury, Training."
2:15 p.m. Speaker, June Keller, Topic: "Running/Marathoning"
2:30 p.m. Sue Daly, Columbus Roadrunners, will describe the course for Sunday's 10K race.
2:45 p.m. More demonstrations by the Aywobic team.

This program is an informal one so that people may join in on some of all of the segments. At the same time, there will be continuous demonstrations of hair styling and make-up tips for runners and joggers in adjacent areas of the Assembly Center.

PICK UP RACE PACKETS

Race Packets for registrants will be available from 12:30 to 3:30 in the Assembly Center. Entry blanks for registration will also be available. Race packets include race number, official Bonne Bell 10K Tee-shirt, a map of the course, and a Bonne Bell cosmetic sample.

RACE STARTS 9 A.M. SUNDAY

Beginning at Town & High Streets in Downtown Columbus, the course for the 10K--sponsored by Bonne Bell in cooperation with Lazarus--loops from Lazarus Square through parks and along bike paths beside the Scioto River to the finish line at Central High School. The course will be certified.

TROPHIES AWARDED

Winners in each division will receive a Silver Bell trophy. The overall winner will be sent to Boston for the 10K Championship race in October, 1981.

2 Re-Elected To Head OSU Hospitals Board

U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Duncan has been elected to a second term as chairman of the Ohio State University Hospitals Board.

Dean W. Jeffers, chairman of Nationwide Insurance Cos., was re-elected vice chairman at the board's meeting on May 8. The two men have headed the 15-member board since its formation in May 1980.

Duncan, a graduate of Ohio State's College of Law, has served as judge for the Southern District of Ohio since 1974. He was a justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio from 1969-71 and a judge of the U.S. Court of Military Appeals from 1971-74, serving as chief judge in 1974.

Jeffers has been general chairman and chief executive officer of the Nationwide Insurance organization since 1972. A graduate of Ohio University, Jeffers has been with Nationwide since 1940 except for World War II service, which included participation in the historic landing on Iwo Jima.

Carats Salute Stones At Gala Spring Fling

Members of the Columbus Chapter of Carats welcomed the first day of Spring with an elegant candlelight buffet supper at the beautiful home of Gloria and Jim Jones.

The pleasant gala was given in honor of Carat husbands, the Stones.

During the brief and entertaining program, following the sumptuous feast, several Carats and Stones were singled out for special honors.

Listed among the honorees were Amos Lynch, chairman of the Stones; Carline Weddington, Carats Columbus Chapter president and 1980 national conclave planning committee chairperson and Gloria Jones, vice chairperson.

Each honoree received a handsome silver plaque in recognition of excellent service.

In addition, immediate past president, Bettye Stull was awarded a gold gavel charm for distinguished service.

Awards presenters included Janet Sullivan, Carats national president; Ann Smith, vice president and social committee chairperson; Helen Ware, publicity chairperson and Millie Chavous.

HAPPY TALK-A mood of quiet elegance was enjoyed by the members of the Columbus Chapter of Carats and Stones (the lovely ladies' husbands) who turned out for the annual spring gala. This year's bash was held at the beautiful home of Gloria and Jim Jones. Enjoying the festivities, are: Dr. Wilbur Weddington, Ginny Smoot, Janet Sullivan, Carats national president; Ann Smith, vice president and Jim Jones.

SPECIAL HONORS-Singled out for special honors and meritorious service during a spring gala hosted by members of Columbus Carats in honor of their husbands, the Stones, were Amos Lynch, chairman of the Stones and Carline Weddington, Carats president, both shown center displaying handsome silver plaques. Past president, Bettye Stull was awarded a beautiful gold gavel charm, which was accepted in her absence by CALL & POST society editor, Millie Chavous, left. Also pictured are: Janet Sullivan, Carats national president; Gloria Jones, buffet supper hostess and award recipient and Ann Smith, vice president local chapter and social committee chairperson. Not pictured: Helen Ware, publicity.

Columbusite Given Same Honor Twice

19-year-old Alicia R. Coleman, daughter of Mrs. Mae M. Coleman, of 543 Hamilton Ave., has been awarded the Johnston Trust Scholarship for the second time.

Ms. Coleman is presently a junior attending Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., where she first received the $2,500 scholarship in 1980. On May 4, she was again awarded the scholarship.

The James C. Johnston Trust for Charitable and Educational Purposes located in Washington, D.C., has for several years supported through grants and scholarship aid, a number of women at Wesleyan.

Ms. Coleman and her family moved to Columbus in 1974. She is originally from Detroit and hopes to graduate in June 1982 with a degree in political science.

While attending Monroe Junior School in New York, Alicia was awarded the ABC Scholarship in 1976. In 1978, she graduated from Barlow High School in upper-state New York, and later attended Kalamazoo College in Michigan before transferring to her present school.

Alicia plans to enter law school after her graduation.

cated to encouraging the participation of minorities and women in all phases of business, politics, religion and government.

While residing in Columbus, she served on the Governor's Task Force on Credit for Women, Board of Trustees of the Hearing a d Speech Center, the Godman Guild Settlement House, the Women's Resource and Policy Development Center, the YWCA and the Metropolitan School.

For several years, she was a Manpower specialist for the Columbus Urban League, and in the late 1960s, she became the first black sales manager at the F & R Lazarus Company.

After moving to Xenia, Mrs. Taylor became an investigator for the Ohio Civil Rights Commission. In 1979 she was accepted and enrolled in law school, where she became very active in the Black American Law Student's Association and a member of the Karats, the Black Women for Professional Development Association.

Albert Hawkins Urges Big Vote For Bradley, Herb Pfeifer Tuesday

out declaring party affiliation," Hawkins explained.

He is supporting Bradley he said, "because I have been impressed by the professional type campaign he's conducting. Bradley is aggressive, and comes across as being knowledgeable of the important issues at public forums," the veteran political wheelhorse observed.

While the primary election is non-partisan, Republicans and Democratic parties have endorsed a slate of candidates for the nomination. Bradley and Ben Espy, the two black candidates, are running with the blessing of the Democratic and Republican Parties respectively.

Hawkins, long recognized as a stalwart in the Democratic Party, said that regardless of whether one is a Republican or Democrat, history will show that it is "unwise to adhere to the party-loyalty principle."

"For too long, we as a Black people, have allowed ourselves to become pawns on a chess board, manipulated by political bosses to feather their own nest at the expense of the vote they've taken for granted," said the man whose political wisdom has gone unquestioned for years.

Hawkins, who recently resigned as Seventh Ward Democratic chairman, said based on his political experience and his analysis of the current campaign, he is supporting Herbert J. Pfeifer, Democrat, for Franklin County Municipal Courts Clerk at the June 2 primary election.

Pfeifer, former Franklin County treasurer, is running without p a r t y endorsement. This fact, according to Hawkins, is a strong indication that, if elected, Pfeifer will be his own man, and will run the clerk's office without party boss dictation.

Noting that he worked closely with Pfeifer when both were members of the Franklin County Democratic Executive Committee and Democratic Central Committee, Hawkins said "I know that Herb is highly qualified, and fully capable of fulfilling the duties of clerk with honor and distinction."

"But of equal importance," Hawkin added, "I know from past experience, that as Clerk of Courts, Herb Pfeifer will personally see to it that blacks will be given their proper share of jobs."

"It is for these reasons that I'm going to vote for Herb Pfeifer next Tuesday. I strongly urge all Franklin County voters, blacks in particular, to join me in supporting this man who will be fair and just with all people," Hawkins concluded.

Highway Patrolman Fingered By Severely Beaten Urbancrest Man

& POST that the brunt of the beating he received came after he was handcuffed and defenseless. He added that he was rudely treated by at least one Grove City policeman who was among other law enforcement officers called to the scene.

Both Galloway's wife and son, Ophelia and Randy, claim they tried to prevent Nichols from further beating their husband/father who they said was bleeding profusely.

"He couldn't even see because of the blood," said Randy Galloway. The son said he witnessed an officer kicking his father and that Nichols used the unclamped end of a pair of handcuffs on his father's left arm to gouge his eye.

The alleged beating victim said, "He tried to do anything he could to try to hurt me."

"It's hard to believe. Usually they're (the highway patrol) more courteous," said Mrs. Galloway.

She said she was terrified when she saw the officer beating her husband. "I turned the light on in the living room. I wanted them (the police) to feel free to ask me anything," she said describing the alleged attack.

"When I looked out, I could see shotguns aimed at the house," Mrs. Galloway said.

She and her son both said that several law enforcement officers surrounded the house with their guns drawn. Mrs. Galloway said that apparently the officers were after her son, but identified him as "Todd," a name that means nothing to her.

However, officials representing the highway patrol said the family has distorted the truth in their story. In fact, Mrs. Galloway and her son Randy, who was arrested with his father, have been charged with obstructing justice, officials said.

Sgt. Gary Brackney, of highway patrol headquarters in Circleville, said the trooper followed Galloway home because he was suspected of drunk driving.

Brackney said Nichols attempted to stop Galloway some three miles from the alleged beating victim's home. Galloway has been charged with driving while intoxicated, resisting arrest, fleeing and aggravated assault.

Resisting arrest and assault charges have been directed against Randy Galloway. In addition, Brackney said both the son and mother have been charged with obstructing an officer in pursuit of official business.

"They grabbed the trooper and they were holding onto his arms," Brackney said. He said Galloway was injured when officers attempted to restrain him.

Brackney said police were unable to have a blood or urine conducted on Galloway because he either refused or was unable to at the hospital due to injuries.

Brackney added that Trooper Nichols was at an obvious disadvantage because the family members were all larger than he was. He said Mr. Galloway is 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 210 pounds; Mrs. Galloway is 5 feet 8 inches, 250 pounds, and Randy Galloway is 6 feet 2 inches, 235 pounds.

He said that Nichols is only five feet nine inches tall and weighs 197 pounds.

"It doesn't appear there has been and impropriety," said Assistant Ohio Attorney General Joe Scuro. Scuro handles all cases against the highway patrol for the state.

Scuro said that no written complaint has been filed as normally is the case in police brutality cases. Having represented the highway patrol some six years, he said the complaint would be pursued after it is filed.

"This (the highway patrol) is an organization that keeps a very clean operation," he said almost echoing the words of Mrs. Galloway. "There is no merit of any accusations of impropriety," Scuro added.

At CALL & POST deadline Mr. Galloway said he planned to file a formal complaint. His son added that he might file a complaint too.

Galloway is currently an employee of the Anheuser Busch Co., and has six children. Mrs. Galloway said he is a disabled veteran, sustaining injuries to almost 40 percent of his body.

Olde Towne Group Fights Red Cross Demolition Plans

Members of the Olde Towne East Development Association, Inc. meeting May 13 unanimously passed a resolution opposing American Red Cross expansion plans on E. Broad St.

Some 100 members reaffirmed their resistance to parking lot expansions that would involve the demolition of homes, and vowed to fight any attempts by the Red Cross to rezone residential land for parking. Red Cross headquarters are located at 995 E. Broad St.

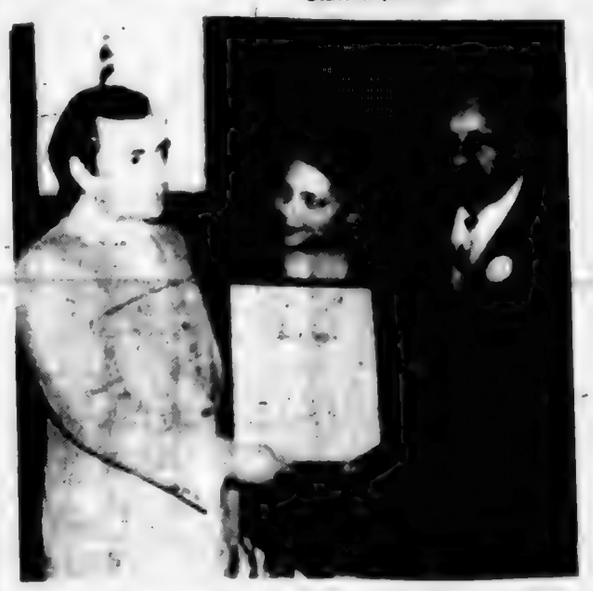
Development Association president, Margaret Buerhaus, said the group took action to preserve the residential integrity of this neighborhood, prevent further loss of needed housing, and protect area residents from displacement.

Residents desiring further information, may call David Hamilton at 228-2663.

Triesta Club To Celebrate

The Triesta Club will celebrate its 20th anniversary with a musical program to be held on Sunday, May 31, at 3 p.m. at the Mt. Carmel Holy Church of God, 1528 Leonard Ave.

IN GRANT HOSPITAL - Roosevelt Carter, 2175 Leonard Ave., was listed in "satisfactory" condition by hospital officials at Grant Hospital Tuesday. Carter, a well-known free lance photographer in the community for many years, entered the hospital May 13, suffering from a lengthy illness due to cancer. His wife, Sue, reported he was "holding his own, slipping in and out (of a coma)." Cards and other get-well wishes may be sent to the fallen community leader, c/o Grant Hospital, 300 E. State St., Room 917.



WORK REWARDED - State Rep. Mike Stinziano, left, recently presented S. Shay Banks, center, with a commendation on behalf of the Ohio House of Representatives. The award was in acknowledgement of Ms. Banks' endeavors in community work. James A. Johnson, president of Dynamic Leadership Inc., presented a letter of appreciation to her. Ms. Banks is a poet and author of the book, "Butterflies And Me."

CENTRAL CITY IS TARGET AREA

$10 Million In Housing Loans To Be Made By BancOhio Bank

BancOhio offices that are designated to process applications for loans through the program are: the Lincoln Office in Mt. Vernon Plaza, 1040 Mt. Vernon Ave.; Steelton Office, 1873 Parsons Ave.; West Side Office, 770 W. Broad St.; and Fifth Avenue Office, 1221 N. High St.

Combs said that when individuals qualify for the loans to purchase or rehabilitate a house, the bank also looks at other programs to see how the individual may obtain the best deal for his money.

Bank officials said they hoped that if the program is successful, other banks and savings and loans groups will be encouraged to make similar investments in the older sections of Columbus.

Area residents, realtors, brokers or building contractors can obtain current information on mortgage and home improvement plans and receive loan application assistance from any of the four designated offices.

BancOhio's Urban Lending Program is a reemphasis of the bank's ongoing commitment to serve the financial needs of residents in less developed areas of the city. The program is directed toward the revitalization and restoration of these areas, Hoskins said.

In an effort to revitalize and restore residential areas of Columbus, BancOhio National Bank is planning to make available $10 million this year in housing-related loans in these areas.

Bank officials said that loans will be made to purchase houses, property, and for rehabilitation of houses. The officials said the areas selected for the loans represent "a good housing buy" because sound, older homes can usually be rehabilitated at a cost that is cheaper than purchasing new houses.

The money is being made available through the bank's Urban Lending Program, said Charles R. Hoskins, senior vice president and head of the community banking division of BancOhio's Columbus Group.

Hoskins said that John H. Combs, a 25-year veteran of mortgage banking and senior vice president of BancOhio Mortgage Co., is directing the lending program.

During an interview last Thursday to discuss the loan program, Combs said about 15 to 20 applications for loans in these areas are being processed already, and that another 30 are being considered for processing. He estimated the amount of money involved to be about $600,000 for acquisition and rehabilitation of property.

According to Hoskins, many prospective borrowers are not aware of the options available to them in securing housing-related financing. BancOhio offers various federally-insured loan programs in addition to conventional financing and home improvement plans. Hoskins added that new services and educational projects will be added in the future.

Currently, BancOhio is planning a series of neighborhood seminars conducted by bank loan experts. The seminars will support the efforts of local organizations and civic groups engaged in revitalization projects.

Black Democrats Set Maryland Congressman

Congressman Parren J. Mitchell, D-Maryland, will be the keynote speaker at the Eighth Biennial Banquet sponsored by the Black Elected Democrats of Ohio (BEDO) to be held on Friday, June 5, at 7 p.m., Columbus-Sheraton Hotel, 50 N. Third St.

Tickets can be purchased by contacting Phyllis Hart, 88 E. Broad St., Suite 2005, Columbus, Ohio 43214.

The Maryland Congressman was the appropriate choice for the keynote speaker, because he was the impetus for the federal set aside legislation, which provided the momentum and precedent for Ohio's minority enterprise law, C.J. McLin, D-Dayton, said.

In 1976, Congressman Mitchell attached to President Carter's $4 billion Public Works Bill, an amendment that compelled state, county and municipal governments seeking federal grants to set aside 10 percent of the money to retain minority firms as contractors, subcontractors, or suppliers. The lawmaker's single amendment resulted in more than $625 million (15 percent) going to legitimate minority firms.

He also introduced legislation which, in 1978, became Public Law 95-507, that requires proposals from contractors to spell out their goals for awarding contracts to minority subcontractors. This law potentially provides access to billions of dollars for minority businesses.

His present appointments include Whip-At-Large; chairman, Task Force on Minority Business; member, Small Business Committee; and chairman, Sub-committee on Housing, Minority Enterprise and Economic Development of the Congressional Black Caucus.

Leuchland Henry had the missing ingredient to educate minority engineers. Money.

Leuchland Henry is a teacher. And a scientist. And an engineer. He's genuinely concerned about other people. And he has expressed some of that concern in his participation with the National Fund for Minority Engineering Students.

The fund is a non-profit organization attempting to increase the number of Blacks, Puerto Ricans, Chicanos, Mexican-Americans and American Indians enrolled in engineering schools.

These under-represented minorities constitute a rich untapped resource to help fill the growing need for engineers, a need that is expected to continue through the mid-1980's.

IBM's social leave program enabled Dr. Henry to take a year's leave to assist the fund. And IBM continued to pay him his IBM salary.

The National Fund for Minority Engineering Students is a very worthwhile program. We think so. Leuchland Henry thinks so. But most important of all, lots of minority engineering students enrolled at colleges and universities all over the country think so.

IBM.

PUBLIC NOTICE
TO OWNERS OF RENTAL PROPERTY

The Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority (CMHA) is administering the Section 8 Moderate Rehabilitation Program within the City of Columbus using funds provided by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Under this program, owners will rehabilitate rental units which are now substandard or have major building systems or components requiring repair or replacement within two years. Cost of this work, which must total at least $1000 per unit, may be financed by a local lending institution, the owner or any other source available to the owner. CMHA does not make rehabilitation loans or grants, but will assist owners in obtaining financing.

After required rehabilitation work has been completed, CMHA and the owner will execute a contract which establishes a rent for the unit(s) that will cover rehabilitation costs, meet monthly operating expenses, and allow a reasonable profit. The owner will then lease the rehabilitated unit(s) to income eligible residents, who will pay approximately 25 percent of their income toward the rent. CMHA will pay the remainder of the rent directly to the owner. Tenants may not be excluded on the basis of race, color, creed or national origin.

CMHA's current funds are expected to rehabilitate approximately 50 2-BR units of housing.

After rehabilitation, the rent (including utilities) cannot exceed the following Maximum Rents:

2-BR UNITS ONLY

No. of units	Maximum rent
50	$348

Proposals must be received by Monday, June 8, 1981, at 2:00 P.M.

Owners who wish to submit a proposal must obtain an application form between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 pm. from:

BARBARA CHAVOUS, a Columbus artist, stands with some of the totems that will be exhibited at the Worthington Public Library, 805 Hartford St., from June 1-30 as part of the city Arts Council's Visual Arts Series.

Barbara Chavous Exhibiting Work In Worthington

The Worthington Arts Council's Visual Arts Series concludes with a June exhibit at the Worthington Public Library, 805 Hartford St. A selection of "totems" by Columbus artist Barbara Chavous will appear throughout the library from June 1 through June 30.

Ms. Chavous' "totems" are large vertical sculptures usually incorporating recycled wood, metals and cloth. Before the addition of vibrant colors, she often paints the totems' entirely white.

The artist states, "African, American Indian and Oceanic art have been of particular aesthetic value in my development." A Columbus native, Ms. Chavous received her visual art training in New York City before returning to the Columbus area.

Ms. Chavous' extensive exhibitions include the Columbus Technical Institute, the Columbus Cultural Arts Center, Artreach Gallery and Franklin University. Her works have also been on display at the Columbuc Museum of Art, Cincinnati Arts Consortium, Battelle, the Ohio State University and the Columbus Summer Arts Festival.

Promoting the arts in central Ohio is another important aspect of Ms. Chavous' work. she is involved in the "Artist-in-the-Schools" program, and serves as a trustee of the Greater Columbus Arts Council. She was the designer of the Jesse Owens award presented to the winner of the Bank One Marathon event.

The Worthington Arts Council's Visual Arts Series is supported by the Ohio Arts Council and the City of Worthington.

PARADE OF STARS-New merchandising materials for promoting the 1981 "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars" telethons to benefit the United Negro College Fund (UNCF) were shown recently at UNCF headquarters in New York by Victor M. Julien, director of special market development, Anheuser-Busch, Inc., to Christopher F. Edley, UNCF executive director. Posters and other merchandising materials are elements of the marketing campaign. The fund-raising goal this year is $5 million in pledges to help 50,000 students improve themselves through education at the 41 UNCF member colleges. The telethon will be aired in 60 markets and will be seen locally on WTVN-TV (channel 6), Saturday, June 20, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Anheuser-Busch, Inc. sponsors and promotes the annual "Parade of Stars."

Viewing Party Hosts/Hostesses Sought For 'Parade Of Stars'

can, in turn, send to five friends to tell them to watch the "Parade of Stars."

Last year, many hosts and hostesses, Mrs. Chavous recalled, preferred refreshments that were delicious, yet fast and easy to prepare. Others went all out. Some even asked their guests to bring covered dishes or snacks.

"The point is to have a good time for UNCF and enjoy "The Lou Rawls Parade of Stars."

"Don't spend your evening in the kitchen!" cautioned Mrs. Chavous with a smile.

Stressing the importance of black community involvement, James L. Allen, associate national development director and head of UNCF's local headquarters at 50 W. Broad St., Suite 1014, said, "We certainly appreciate the outstanding contributions of large corporations which have been essential to the success of UNCF historically, but we must have grass roots support of the black community."

"Volunteers are the backbone of our annual campaign," Allen said.

"They man the telephones the night of the special, campaign door-to-door, stuff envelopes, keep account of pledges, hang posters-in other words, our volunteers make it happen."

"Without their generous assistance, the "Parade of Stars" would simply not exist," Allen observed.

"Every dollar contributed helps some economically disadvantaged student to receive a quality education which he or she could not otherwise afford."

Allen said that he is hopeful this year's campaign will better the total of $52,000, reached locally last year.

Contributions are tax deductible. Donors will receive receipts from UNCF for income tax purposes, as well as receipts for viewing party hosts for expenses incurred in preparation for the telecast, Allen said.

The "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars" will be co-hosted by Rawls, Natalie Cole and Ed McMahon, and will be telecast from the stage of the fabulous Tropicana Hotel.

Entertainment luminaries to be featured will be: Tony Bennett, Sammy Davis Jr., Tony Orlando, the Follies Bergere, Dionne Warwick, Sister Sledge, Bill Cosby and many others.

The video-taped Las Vegas segments will be interspersed with live fund-raising local breakways, which will be televised from the WTVN-TV6 studios at 1261 Dublin Rd., where business and community leaders joined by concerned citizens will come to pledge with on-air contributions to UNCF.

UNCF represents a consortium of 41 historically black colleges and universities of which Wilberforce University is a member.

All 41 schools are private and fully-accredited, and provide a quality education for 50,000 young men and women every year.

UNCF exists to raise operating money for its member colleges so that they can maintain the highest academic standards and prepare their graduates for demanding professions and careers, Allen said.

CONCERNED UNCF VOLUNTEERS-Amos H. Lynch, seated, right, general chairman, 1981 "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars," discusses the importance of black community involvement in the annual fund-raising benefit for the United Negro College Fund. The "Parade of Stars," underwritten by a grant from Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc. with an able assist from The Columbus Distributing Company, will be shown on WTVN-TV6, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., Saturday, June 20. The octet of concerned volunteers are planning to host home viewing parties during the time the Rawls special is being aired. Also on hand for the volunteer kick-off meeting, last week, was Mick Lewis, seated, left, Special Markets representative, Anheuser-Busch. Anxious to get the party started to raise money for the 41 UNCF schools, including Wilberforce University, are, standing, left to right: Alicia Jenkins, Jesse Johnson, B.J. Luny, Mary Wilder, Carol James, Angelica Wilson, Dr. Rheba Otey and Evelyn Boyer. Not shown: Shay Banks, Elsie White, Gloria Jones and Carline Weddington.

BENEFIT STEERING COMMITTEE-Money to help support the 41-member schools of the United Negro College seemed to be on everybodies' mind, attending the volunteer kick-off meeting, held at the board room of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, last week. Pictured here are members of the strategically vital Community Steering Committee for the second annual "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars." The four-hour, multi-million dollar musical spectacular will be aired locally Saturday, June 20, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., on WTVN-TV6. On the scene to launch the 1981 fund-raising campaign with great enthusiasm were, first row, left to right: Dr. Margaret Roberts, publicity; Trudy Nolan, community volunteers; Millie Chavous, co-vice chairman, 1981 television benefit and Home Viewing Party chief. Standing, left to right: Peggy Burke, accounting volunteers; Sonja Brunson and Delores Woodruff, clubs and organizations. Not pictured: Representatives of area churches: Revs. Richard Trelease, Jacob J. Ashburn Jr., Rhenetta Davis and Odell Waller. Volunteers are still needed in all areas. For information, please call the UNCF office at 221-5309.

TO TALLY PLEDGES-Obviously the prospect of tens of thousands of dollars in pledges being contributed to the 1981 fund-raising benefit for the United Negro College Fund pleases this quartet of auditors very much. The accounting wizards will lend expert accounting know-how during the 1981 "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars," Saturday, June 20, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., WTVN-TV6. The auditors are, seated, left to right: Peggy Burke, examiner in charge, District 6, Auditor of State's office; and Marcia Thames, state examiner. Standing, left to right, are: Michael L. Thomas, state examiner and John M. Gore, state examiner. Pledges and contributions will help UNCF underwrite the education of some 50,000 needy students attending 41 UNCF schools. In addition to these professional volunteers, hundreds of community residents are needed to work in many areas before, during and after the special telecast. To volunteer, contact the UNCF office at 221-5309.

HERE THEY COME-As some of the competitors in the City League Championship track and field championships head around the track, some of the crowd looks on intently. The track meet at Briggs High School was won by Central High School in the boys division, and by Mifflin High School in the girls division. (RICH CHAMBERS PHOTO)

CROSSING FINISH LINE-Mia Lancaster, the Beechcroft High School contestant in the mile run at the City League track and field championships the other week, crosses the finish line ahead of everyone else. She was clocked at 5:41.3. (RICH CHAMBERS PHOTO)

UP AND AWAY-Rod Ferguson of Northland High School hurls the shot put far enough for a third place finish in the City League track and field championships the other week at Briggs High School. He had a throw of 48 feet, 9 inches. Kevin Kline of West won the event with a throw of 54 feet, 5 inches. (RICH CHAMBERS PHOTO)

Cummings Named Chief For Amateur Boxers

Bill Cummings Jr., head of Recreational Services for the Ohio Youth Commission, has been appointed National Registration Chairman for the USA Amateur Boxing Federation, the national governing body for amateur boxing in this country.

Cummings will head the committee which establishes and oversees the registration of USA/ABF's amateur boxers and non-athlete members. During 1980, close to 26,000 amateur boxers were registered with the organization.

Currently, Cummings is also coach of the Ohio Youth Commission Recreational Services' Boxing Team.

The Toledo, Ohio-native who now lives in Columbus began coaching in 1959 and started with the Youth Commission team in 1968. He was named Coach of the Year in 1973 and again in 1975 by the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU). He was the first coach to ever receive the accolade twice. Cummings also coached USA Boxing Teams which toured Europ and the Soviet Union.

A former boxer, Cummings is active and/or an officer in general boxing organizations: commissioner, Ohio USA/ABF Association; founder and executive director, United States Amateur Boxers and Coaches Association; general chairman, Columbus (Ohio) Golden Gloves; chairman of the Board of Trustees, Golden Gloves Association of America; founder and director, Ohio State Fair National Amateur Invitational Boxing Tournament; and founder and president, Black Amateur Boxing Caucus of the U.S. He also serves on the Board of Governors of USA/ABF.

Where credit is due.

Today's economy requires that almost everyone use credit from time to time. BANK ONE always stands ready to help . . . and one of the most important ways is with a VISA credit card account. The BANK ONE VISA credit card is one of the most widely used and prestigious purchasing options available today. It's honored by merchants and banks around the world. And BANK ONE has made a commitment to provide VISA credit cards, along with other credit services, to credit qualified customers all over Ohio.

We've offered the VISA credit card service for over 15 years, and the card has found a place in the wallets and purses of thousands of shoppers in Central Ohio . . . giving them added buying opportunities without having to depend on cash or checks.

And in addition, BANK ONE checking customers can get the VISA Checking Account Card. It lets shoppers make purchases using money in their checking accounts without writing checks, and there are no additional fees or charges for the VISA Checking Account Card. The VISA Checking Account Card is the perfect complement to our VISA credit card.

Over the years we've worked hard to make our VISA card programs the very best available anywhere. If you're not a BANK ONE VISA customer, we look forward to providing you with our services in the near future.

Sincerely,

John B. McCoy

President
BANK ONE OF COLUMBUS

P.S. Bank Of America is soliciting credit card business here in Ohio . . . and there is one important fact you should know about their program. The credit card rules and regulations are based on California law which sets no maximum interest rate limit that can be charged on VISA. Ohio law limits credit card interest to an 18% annual percentage rate. So, beware of out-of-state banks that are trying to get your business . . . especially when you can get the most complete VISA services from BANK ONE.
